For the Joi rnal. Apple Tree Borers.

The apple tree borer is a very troublesome insect in some sections of country, and has already made its appearance in many orchards in this county. Mr. Elliott describes it as fol-lows in his fruit book: "The perfect insect is a brown and white striped beetle about half an inch long, which, flying at night, may be destroyed in the mouth of June by building bonfires in the orchard. In its lorvel state in which it does its work of destruction, it is a fleshy white grub which enters the tree at the collar just at the surface of the ground, girdling or perforating the wood to such an extent as often to cause death before its attack is noticed except by the circful observing orchardist The small round holes from which dust is ejected indicates its presence -- some cut out the worm with a knife, others use a barbed wire, which is either thrust into the hole and destroys the worm or on withdrawing brings it out." Downing advises as a preventive, washing the bodies of the trees with the following mixture: "one pint of sulphur, one gallon soft soap and sufficient tobacco water to reduce it to the consistence of paint," Mr. Barry in his book says the same means are taken to goard against them as against the peach tree grub, viz: placing a mound of ashes around the base of the trunk in the spring and allowing it to remain until after the season

MILLOROVE, March, 1859. The most beautiful sight in this country is the cottages of the poor, where taste and industry display their mutual results. And here let us observe, that it costs no more to build a residence in good than in bad taste, and that our country friends err in not thinking a little more of this than they do.

in which the beetles deposit their eggs.

In this country there are elaborately and carefully written books containing plans and esti-mates of cottages that cost from $300 to $5,000 —from an edifice of one room and bed-room, to those of the greatest dimensions. We have run too much into the Grecian style for comfort, it gives neither the shelter in winter nor the shade in summer which our climate demands. Blinds, porches, lattice-work, large and low piazzas, are much better adapted to our use than the Grecian, and when properly combined, afford the most beautiful and picturesque form, while they are also infinitely more comfortable. Our villages and farm houses might be made very beautiful and elegant in their appearance without costing as much as the ill-designed and often comfortless dwellings, which meet the eye at every turn. In the country, then, so far as the desire of comfortable or elegant residences actuate our minds, we may find ample room and verge enough for its gratification. In the gratification of the taste for good and wholesome fare, surely, even the gourmand must admit the country is pre-emineut. Everything may be had fresh and pure. What flour, what butter, what eggs, what provisions of all kinds repay the cares of industry. How healthful the table of the independent farmer or mechanic. Why, the juded appetite of the resident in town revives at the very thought of these luxuries of the country. But how much more than this may be attained? A seed dropped here and there, slips from the nosegay replanted, a specimen of some shrub or some fruit tree, springs up almost without a thought, to repay the slightest attention of the horticulturist or the florist .--What choice vegetables, what rare plants, what beautiful flowers may be the trophies of any one in the cuntry, who will devote the Persons who once become interested in the pursuit, find themselves surrounded by immeasureable enjoyment. Those only of enthusiastic minds have within a few years abandoned all other concerns to cultivate this neglected field, and the discoveries of science aiding them in to their race, as well as true friends to their own interests. Any one--almost the poorest person, -may in this way reap the pleasures which nature denies to those whose shade is the awning of a dusty street, and whose groves are but stacks of chimneys.

The above hints to my rural friends, I hope will be heeded, and it Wood county is to be what Howe in his history says it will be, "The garden of Ohio," let us all lend a helping hand GO TO ROBERTSON'S. in making it such. D. H. C.

A Sublime Peroration.

The closing passage of Prof. Mitchel's lecture after speaking of the unfathomable distances which no telescope can penetrate, lying far beyond the system in which the earth revolves, and yet filled with independent systems of worlds of infinite numbers, was as follows:

Light traverses a space at the rate of a million miles a minute, yet the light from the nearest star requires ten years to reach the earth, and Herschel's telescope revealed stars two thousand three hundred times further distaut. The great telescope of Lord Ross pursued these creations of God still deeper into space, and having resolved the nebulæ of the Milky Way into stars, discovered other systems of stars-beautful dimond points glittering through the black darkness beyond. When he beheld this amazing abyss-when he saw these systems scattered profusely throughout spacewhen he reflected upon their immense distance. their enormous magnitude, and the countless million of worlds that belong to them it seemed to them as though the wild dream of the German poet was more than realized.

"God called man in dreams into the vestibule of heaven, saying 'come up hither and I will show thee the glory of my house.' And to his angels who stood about his throne he said, 'take him, strip him of his robes of flesh, cleanse him in the United States. They are therefore able to offer of his affections, put a new breath into his extra inducements to all wishing nostrils, but touch not his human heart'-the heart that fears and hopes and trembles. A moment and it was done, and the man stood ready for the aukaowa voyage. Under the guidance of a mighty angel, with sounds of flying pinions, they sped away from the battlements of heaven. Some time on the mighty angel's wings they fled through Saharahs of darknes, wilderness of death. At length, from a distance not counted save in the arithmetic of Heaven, and light beaming upon them a sleepy flam; as seen through a bazy cloud. In a moment the blazing of suns around them; -- a moment the wheeling of planets; then came long eternities of twilight; then egain on the right hand and the left appeared more constellations. At last the man sunk down, crying Angel, I can go no further, let me lie down in the grave, and hide myself from the infinitude of the universe, for end there is none.' 'End is there none?' demanded the angel. And from the glittering stars that shone around there came a choral shout. End there is none!" 'End is there none?' demanded the anger again; and is it this that awes the soul? I answer, end there is none to the universe of Got! Lo, also, there is no beginning!"!

-"A Lawrer," said Lord Brougham, facetiously "is a learned gentleman, who rescues your estate from your enemies, and-keeps it himself."

A Benevilent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic Diseases.

The Howard Association, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practiced upon the unfortunatevictims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE

It is needless to add that the Association commands the

SINGER'S SEWING MACHINES. all the leading branches of manufacturing indus I try the great practical superiority of Singer's Sewing Machines is a fact established beyond dispute. No tailor, shoe manufacturer, clothic, seamstress, dress maker, saddler, carriage trimmer, bat manufacturer, &c., &c., can afford to do without them. One Thousand Dollars a Year Is only a fair average of the actual profit from the use of each one of these Machines, and, for confirmation of this truth, we refer to any one of the thousands of persons who use them. They are adapted to every sor of work, fine or coarse upon silk, cotton, linen and woolen fabries, also light and heavy leather. They never fail to give entire satisfaction.

To meet the growing demand for a smaller and more elegant machine for private household purposes, we have just produced, and are ready to receive orders for Singer's New Family Sewing Machine, Which is the most compact and beautiful Sewing Ma-chine ever constructed. It is ornamented in the highest style of art, and all who see it are delighted with it. It makes the improved interlocked stitch, and is capable of doing a greater variety of work in better style than any other Sewing Machine ever offered for family pur-

It is not subject to the objection of using twice to much thread, and making a raveling seam, like the Grover & Baker; nor is it confined in its operation to a few thin fabrics, liable to get out of order, and unfitted to use flax thread, like the Wheeler & Wilson Machine; but is amply sufficient to perform all kinds of family sewing.
